MOLLY BRANT AND BURNT HILLS WIN AT SARATOGA.

Former Takes Delaware Handicap, and Latter Captures Handleap for Two-Year-Olds - Africander Triumphs at Good Odds-Steeplechase for Malden.

Sanatoca, Aug. 11.—The colors of John Sanford; member of the State Racing Commission, were twice carried to victory to-day by two daughters of the famous Clifford. molly Brant won the Delaware Handicap, at a mile, and Burnt Hills, the fleet filly, captured me nandicap for two-year-olds, at six furlongs. Both were odds-on favorites and heavily backed. Molly Brant, with 112 pounds, was quoted at 3 to 5. She met a fair field, and some after the start Lyng took her to also is entared in the fifth expension. and soon after the start Lyne took her to the front, after which it was just a good gallop for her to win by two lengths in 1:39 2-5. It was a hard fight for the place, Stalwart, 6 to 1, finally taking it by half a length from Graziallo, 13 to 1, who beat De Reszke, 20 to 1, a head. Flying Ship was only a head back.

Burnt Hills, who is considered one of the best two-year-old fillies in training, picked up 112 pounds and was ridden by Hilde brand. There was a rather long delay a the post, but the field was sent away to good start, with Dandelion making the run-ning, followed closely by Khorasan, Chrys-itis and Burnt Hills. At the stretch turn, Burnt Hills and Cigarlighter, 20 to 1, began to move up, and the former soon took com-mand, winning easily by two lengths in 1:15 Cigarlighter took the place by a length from Merry Lark, 80 to 1, with Dandelion and Chrysitis less than half a length away.

Africander, after a long rest, made his appearance in the handicap at a mile and an eighth, running in the colors of Sim Deimel the former partner of Charley Dwyer. The Star Ruby colt, now trained by Frank Weir was quoted at the extremely liberal odds of e to 1, the public at large supporting him generously. He picked up 123 pounds, and Fuller had the leg up. Fort Hunter, the to 10 favorite, and Palmbearer, 16 to 5, wen to the front at the outset, attended by S. S. Brown's Proceeds. At the head of the stretch Fuller was fortunate enough to get through on the rail, and Africander, under a drive, won by two lengths in 1:55. He received a wild ovation. Palmbearer, after Fort Hunter had stopped, went on and took place money lengths from Rosewater, 10 to 1, the closed strongly.

Sydney Paget's Teacress, 3 to 1, second choice, took the first race, for two year olds, at five and a half furlongs. Thirty-Third, to 1, made the pace to the last furlong pole, where Hildebrand cut loose with Teacress and won easily by a length and a half. Workman, 10 to 1, also came with a rush and got the place by a length from Thirty-Third. Tramotor, 11 to 5 favorite, who was prominent to the middle of the stretch, tired while E. R. Thomas's Niblick, well backed at 4 to 1, ran a surprisingly poor race.

Malden was in a soft spot in the Steeplechase Handicap and went to the post at 7 to 10. He led almost from the start and won handly by three lengths from Daylesford, second sice, who showed marked improvement over his previous race.

Joe Yeager's Jane Holly, a hot favorite at even money, in the fifth race, at a mile, could not extend herself and was badly Old England, 8 to 1, showed the way right up to the last 100 yards, where I. Griffin's Conkling, an 8 to 1 shot, who had been second all the way, closed with remarkable gameness and beat the Sullivan horse by a head at the post. Fire Eater, 20 to 1, was third. A full two-innings game was played yesteradsy at Prospect Park, where a team representative of the Metropolitan League defeated the New York Cricket Association eleven by 10 runs and five wickets to spare. Slow scoring marked the game and the feature of the match was the bowling of B, Kortlang, who in the first innings captured acree wickets for 15 runs. The wicket was dead and fast scoring was out of the question, but in the batting department A. Hoskings played a splendid innings of 42 for the league, while A. R. Smith made an equally good effort of 38, not out, for the association. In the second innings W. S. Patmore, J. Adam and J. D. Eldridge all batted well for the association. The totals were: N. Y. C. PATERSON, Aug. 11.—Clubmen of Montclair, the Oranges and Newark are interesting themselves with members of the North Jersey Country Club of this city, in establishing a golf links and clubhouse at the Great Notch, on a fine plateau on the mountain, which commands a grand view and comprises 300 acres. Golfers here favor the scheme, for the lease on the North Jersey Country Club grounds, which are situated in Bergen county, will expire next year, at which time the club will have to look for new quarters. The project is to erect a modern clubhouse, where members may be accommodated for weeks at a time. Escape Canadian Plunger Doing Well SARATOGA, Aug. 11 .- It looks now as if it Burnt Hills the Sanford stables have one of the best two-year-old fillies of the year. When she won the other day, it being her first public appearance, some were inclined to discount the showing on the ground that the lot behind her were very ordinary. This was the case, but to-day, in a handicap, she met a real good lot and won as easily as she did when she met the others.

She is a homebred one, being by Clifford, out of Whiplash, and in spring gallops showed so little that it was not believed she would pay er way. In fact, as late as June 1 she was declared out of most of her engagements. among which was the rich Hopeful Stakes, which is to be run here next Saturday. Some time in June, after she had been de-clared, the Messrs. Sanford gave a day's racing at their farm for the folks of Amsterdam. A regular card was arranged and among the winners of the day was this filly and she beat two of her stable mates that were rated pretty high. This brought her some attention, and her improvement since has been so rapid and so pronounced that clever judges now class her as a worthy com-petitor for the title of best of filles with Tanya and Tradition. Her race to-day really gives no line on her merit, for she simply went to the front when she was called on, and at the finish she was but little more than

Molly Brant, another of the Sanford string, won her race with as much leisure, and this one must be put down as dangerous in any company and at any distance. The two with Caughnawaga, promise rich returns for the stable in the fall, even should it be that the others in the string do not make good. Jockey Redfern did not ride to-day, as he is still suffering from the bruises received when he fell with Trepan yesterday. The injuries are just where his shoulder was burt at Aqueduct a year ago last spring, when one of Billy Oliver's horses ran through the fence with him. The doctors say he is rounding to fast and will be able to ride on Saturday unless there are some complications. Conkling's victory was very profitable to his owner, Tommy Griffin, and his friends. Among them was John Madden, who thought the price, 8 to 1, a false one and stretched the limit a little. Griffin got busy after the race and claimed the favorite, Jane Holly, who ran in the name of Joe Yeager. The cost was $1,840, which looks like a bargain. It has been said for some time back that she is slightly touched in her wind, but if she is it does not affect her running any. To-day the trouble seemed to be that she was short of show anything like her customary speed.

Among the winners on Conklin was John R. McLean, of Cincinnati, who was one of the day's arrivals. He has never been known as a betting man, but took the tip from a friend and was well pleased with the result. He said he was going to tell his friends during his stay here that if they wanted the winners to come and get his judgment.

Charles Grainger, the Mayor of Louisville and the president of the new Louisville Jockey Club, was another of the day's arrivals. Mr. Grainger is a heavy bettor at times, and after the races here will journey along to Sheeps

G. Whittier and Good Morning, two of the string of L. V. Bell, have been shot. Both were badly broken down, and as there was practically no chance of their being brought around to racing again they were killed. Good Morning was an English bred horse who was brought to this country by John Hannin with a great reputation, which he failed to make good, in fact, JimmyMcCormick, Mr. Bell's trainer, never got him to the post.

At one of the sales at the Brighton meet-At one of the sales at the Brighton meeting there was a consignment from the stable of Mr. Chamblet. Among them was a jumper, Trek, and so little was he thought of that when a bid of $75 was made he was knocked down. With a change of handlers came a wonderful improvement, and to-day the owner of a number of high class cross country performers made an offer of $2,000, and it was refused. This is not surprising, for if Trek holds his present condition he will earn that amount in purses before the

This was work morning for the colts and fillies that will compete for the Hopeful Stakes on Saturday, but nothing fast was shown, as most of those that are considered dangerous are keyed up by their races. The nearest to a showing of speed came from Blandy, who covered six furlongs in 1:15. The hope of the West, The Mist, the filly who will run in the interests of Prince Ponia-towski, was out and went six furlongs in 1:17. She was not hurried at any stage of the trip, and in some quarters she is con-sidered dangerous. The clockers, however, refuse to see anything but Tanya. She had her try-out yesterday morning and went the distance in 1:15 2-5. This filly is the acme of speed just now, and when she meets Sysonby will have a host of followers.

Delhi's trial for the Derby, which will also be run on Saturday, was held early to-day. He went a mile and a quarter in 2:12 2-5 and with something in hand all the way. For the first six furlongs he was accompanied by the two-year-old Blucher. This is the colt it is believed Mr. Keene referred to when he said that he had one in his stable that could outrun Sysonby. This youngster is in the English Derby for next year and will be sent to bid for that event.

After the races to-day a number of the day's programme were worked. Among them was Eugenia Burch, and she had a narthem was Eugenia Burch, and she had a nar-row escape from a serious accident. As she came by the stand she was at full speed, and from the infield came a jumper that had been schooling. His rider made no attempt on the track the mare just grazed him. It is contended that the biggest winner here is a man from Toronto named James S. Saunders. In the first few days of the meeting he was placing show bets of $100 and $200. Now he is backing his choices straight and with thousands. It is said that to date he is winner about $60,000, a like rate. Veitch, Kelly and Henry were fined $10 each for misbehavior while at the post for Jockey H. Michaels, who has been doing good work on the Canadian circuit, arrived here to-day and will ride as a free lance for the remainder of the meeting. Fuller rode a good race on Africander.

This is his first winning mount since his fall from grace in celebrating his victory with Highball in the American Derby.

Cigariighter, who finished second in the third event, had been primed for a killing, and the few in the know backed him down from 50 to 1. They won well on the race. for their money was placed all three ways. The colt was among the rear guard at the start and closed very strongly in the run through the homestretch. With an even break his backers might have won their straight bets also.

The Picket was sent a mile after the race in 1:42. He is being made ready for the Saratoga cup. McChesney's first race of the meeting will be next Tuesday, and it will be a trip of a mile and a furlong. This is in preparation for his stake engagements later on.

SWEET MARIE WINS BIG TROT. $10,000 Stake at Empire Track-Other Grand Circuit Results.

With the sun shining brightly and a nice breeze sweeping the beautiful grounds, 5,000 spectators at the Empire track yesterday afternoon saw the largest trotting stake of the year decided. Other stakes of equal amount have been advertised, but a part was reserved for a consolation race. In the Knickerbooker Stake the full $10,000 was divided among the winners. It was for 2:14 class trotters, and the long list of original nominators dwindled down to six starters.

Sweet Marie, the California trotter, who has been recognized for two years as a com-ing champion, was made a top-heavy favorite, has been recognized for two years as a coming champion, was made a top-heavy favorite, selling before the start at more than even money over the entire field. Aristo, James Butler's winner on the opening day, sold in the field, and he proved the real surprise.

Mary Gage had the pole, but Aristo, in second place, assumed the lead at the first turn, and for seven furlongs it looked as if he would make a runaway race of the big stake. Down the backstretch Katherine A. and John Mc. were head and head, an open length behind Aristo, and Sweet Marie was still another length away. Mary Gage had made a break and had fallen out of the race.

Just after swinging into the homestretch, John Mc. made a break, but he caught handly. Sweet Marie, on the outside, was closing fast, and at the distance stand De Ryder drew his whip. It looked as if Aristo might hold on long enough to win, but when he made a break Sweet Marie swept past him and won.

In spite of the good showing the others had made, the bettors plunged on Sweet Marie to win at 5 to 1 over the field, and the books held her out in the betting. The second heat was a repetition of the first in the order at the finish, but both Aristo and John Mc. The dust was flying under the sulky wheels trotted lapped on the favorite throughout the mile, and the three were lapped at the finish.

The dust was flying under the sulky wheels when the 2:25 class pacers for the three-year-old stake of $2,000 came out to open the card for the day. Bucklock, the local favorite from Stony Ford Stud, and Dorcas H., the Kentucky representative, were equal choices in the betting, with Simon Kenton, the winner in the class at Buffalo, the third choice. The books were very shy of Dorcas H. and held her at 8 to 5. Dorcas H. quite outclassed her field and won in commanding fashion. The 2:12 trot brought together two former contestants in the M. and M. Stake at Detroit, Stanley Dillon, the winner, and James Butler's Blackthorn, who won third money. Daniel O. Dell's Lady Gail Hamilton was naturally a local favorite, and with Scott Hudson behind her she was believed to be worthy of strong support. Annie Little, who has won persistently at the matinee races and dold Burra Special interest.

Stanley Dillon was made the favorite with a Speedway favorite, made the race one of special interest.

Stanley Dillon was made the favorite with Lady Gail Hamilton, a good second choice. The real surprise was the rank outsider, Gold Burr, for he took the pole before reaching the first turn and hung on so persistently that Stanley Dillon beat him only in the last four strides. Annie Little was unsteady and Blackthorn seemed laoking in speed.

The 2:10 pace was another race that did not come up to expectations. Darius was picked to win at more than even money over the field, Ben F, being the only one that found any support against the favorite. Ben F, scored at running horse speed, but when it came to actual racing at the finish Darius passed him and won in moderate time for the class.

Polo. NARRAGANSETT PIER, Aug. 11.—The Point Judith Country Club polo tournament was continued at the Pier to-day, when play was for the Narragansett cups. The match was the third event in the series. The rival teams were Bryn Mawr second and Rockaway first. Bryn Mawr won the game by a score of 15 to 7%. By handicap Rockaway received six goals. Larry Waterbury took the place of George McFadden on the Bryn Mawr team. In the second period R. Lamontagne, Jr., and P. F. Collier were both thrown from their ponies, but escaped serious injury. Chauncey was also thrown in the last period. The ground was soft from the heavy rain of yesterday and made riding difficult.

MATHEWSON'S DROP BALL TOO MUCH FOR CINCINNATI.

Seventeen-Inning Battle in Brooklyn Won by St. Louis-Longest of Games at Washington Park-Pittsburgs and Chicagos Win From Their Opponents.

The New York Nationals showed their superiority to the Cincinnatis yesterday in a game full of feeling. In Brooklyn the home team and Cardinals engaged in the longest game of the season in the big leagues, St. Louis winning in the seventeenth inning. The longest previous big league game of the season was a sixteen inning battle between Boston and St. Louis of the American League. Pittsburg-beat Boston yesterday and Chicago won from Philadelphia. The results:

 NEW YORK (N. I..), 5; CINCINNATI, 2. The New Yorks and the Reds had on all their war paint yesterday afternoon, and the New Yorks beat the Reds in a game that was spicy and scrappy and fussy. Emslie's decisions brought out the fussy phase, both sides kicking. Then, too, the game was musey, this element being supplied by the The New Yorks fielded cleanly and were the more aggressive and better fighters. They fully beat off the Kelleyites.

Mathewson's drop soon weakened the confidence of the Reds in their ability to hit the ball, and they were in the guessing stage when they went to the plate with shouldered hickories. They reached out for the ball as it came up, then swung and it was not there. Eleven of the Reds struck out, and their six hits were spread out over six innings. Ewall right. But two of his gifts ended in runs. This and shaky support by Corcoran and Seymour offset the fact that Ewing also kept the hits scattered.

The Reds scored first. Mathewson passed Odwell in the second inning, Corcoran sacrificed, and Steinfeldt singled smartly to left, Dunn's bumping of Odwell not preventing the latter from reaching the plate. The New Yorks evened up in the third. Bowerman unumpered a line drive good for Eowerman unimpered a line drive good for two bases, Mathewson sacrificed and Bres-nahan's fly to Odwell scored Bowerman. Odwell hit safely to right in the fourth. Browne tried for the ball on the fly, could not quite make it, and the bound carried the ball beyond him. Odwell reached third, and Cor-coran's lift to Mertes brought him in. Odwell's good catch of Dunn's fly helped block New York in the fourth. In the same inning Odwell neatly trapped Mertes's single, but his bluff that it was a fly catch only created laughter.

Odwell neatly trapped Mertes's single, but his bluff that it was a fly catch only created laughter.

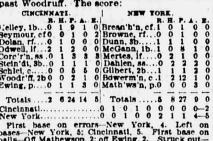

The sixth inning seethed with incident. Bresnahan drew four balls, and the rooters turned on their vocal batteries. Browne sacrificed. Dunn singled to centre, and as Seymour failed to stop the ball, both Bresnahan and Dunn crossed the plate. McGann was safe on Corcoran's low throw, and as Mertes was striking out he was hitting the highway for second base. The throw was good, but Corcoran dropped the ball after putting it on McGann. Emsile said out, and the New Yorks swarmed around the umpire excitedly. McGann ran up and grabbed Emsile by the coat, and McGraw pushed McGann away. Then all hands subsided.

Gilbert's two-bagger, Corcoran's bad throw and two bases on balls gave the New Yorks a run in the seventh. In the eighth, McGann made a remarkable catch. He and Bowerman both went for Ewing's foul, which was coming just in front of the extension seats. They crossed each other, but McGann never took his eyes off the descending ball. When he got hold of it he held on, though he half fell and half ran into the seats.

McGann reached third on Seymour's mufin the eighth and scored on Dahlen's smash past Woodruff. The score:

In a seventeen inning game at Washington Park yesterday the St. Louis team increased Brooklyn's long list of one run defeats. Nichols and Jones were the opposing twirlers. The veteran Nichols was very steady all the way through and had superb control, while the Californian weakened perceptibly toward the close of the game. Jones was backed up with errorless support, and the only misplay recorded was a fumble by Burke in the sixteenth which allowed Jones to reach first, but it was not a factor in the run getting.

Gessler, who played centre field in place of Dobbs, tied the score with a slashing hit to right field for a home run in the fourth, and he distinguished himself in fielding with one assist and five put outs, two of which were sensational running catches. Brooklyn had chances to win in the twelfth and fifteenth, but the necessary hit was not forthcoming on either occasion.

When Farrell stepped up to the plate at the beginning of the seventeenth inning the spectators, who had been worked up to a high pitch with excitement, stood up and called to Jones to smother the visitors. Farrell hit safely to centre and Jones weakened giving Shannon a base on four wide ones. Beckley then sacrificed, advancing the runners a base each, and Brain brought Farrell and Shannon home with a single to short right field.

Dillon was the first batter up for Brooklyn in the final half, but was easily disposed of by Farrell and Beckley. Lumley singled to centre and went to second on Sheckard's out at first. Strang doubled to right, scoring Lumley, but Babb sent an easy fly to Brain, ending the game. The score:

It was a marvellous game all the way through and might have gone to a darkness finish, 0 to 0, but for one slip by Powell. In the sixth inaing he struck out White and Green. Then he hit Jones on the hip. He gave Callahan a base on balls and Davis hit sharply to centre, Jones just beating the throw home. In the seventh inning New York made three of its six hits, and had the bases full with only one out. Conroy popped an easy fly to isbell, and Kleinow struck out. White's fielding was one of the features of the game. He was all over the infield, and repeatedly retired batemen when a hit would have changed the fortunes of the game.
